Plymouth, MA and Osterville, MA, October 15, 2022 -- A leak or two during major storms? Andrew B. Jones, a Dennis, MA resident, will be the first one to tell you that sometimes you don't have to replace the entire roof. Given his experience and knowledge, Andrew Jones promoted to Supervisor of Roof Repairs for Paul J. Cazeault & Sons Roofing. He is helping many South Shore and Cape Cod residents save thousands of dollars, with assessing and identifying roof damage and outlining a repair vs. replace solution. "We can often extend the life of a roof," noted Jones. He added, "Via interior/exterior inspection and drone camera views, we get a good idea of what the options are and how best to address the situation." Jones started with Cazeault three years ago as a Repair Technician. His hands on learning provided a solid background on what to look for, state of the art materials and best practices in the shoring up a roof. In his new role, Jones will diagnose and estimate roof repairs. Additionally, he will assign and manage repair crews that will implement the solution. Jones attended Cape Cod Community College and the Wentworth Institute of Technology. Cazeault Roofing maintains offices at 1031 Main St, Osterville, MA, 22 Giddiah Hill Road in Orleans, and 47 Liberty Street, Plymouth, MA.
