Saudi Arabia Genset Rental Market Synopsis

Saudi Arabia genset rental market declined in 2020 on the back of Covid-19 pandemic, as there were delay and cancellation for projects in various sectors across the country in order to maintain the social distancing measures adopted to curb the spread of coronavirus. There was also a slump in social gatherings and entertainment events due to the imposed lockdown in the country. This hampered the economic growth in Saudi Arabia, causing substantial disturbance in the supply chain and brought about a fall in electricity consumption in Saudi Arabia. These elements prompted a decrease in demand for genset rentals in Saudi Arabia during the last year. However, the market is expected to exhibit growth in 2021 on account of projects getting resumed and the commencement of new contracts, along with increasing need for power in the commercial and industrial sectors.
