Message

Shareable Meals, a new mobile app designed for families and fitness enthusiasts, has officially launched to transform the way people plan, track, and enjoy their meals. For just $3.99 per month, users gain access to an all-in-one platform that combines meal planning, nutrition tracking, and social cooking into one seamless experience. At its core, Shareable Meals makes healthy eating easy and fun. Users can create personalized meal plans with AI-powered recipe generation, track their daily nutrition goals with visual analytics, and even manage their kitchens with smart grocery lists and pantry tools. Beyond planning, Shareable Meals brings people together through weekly cooking competitions, recipe sharing, and community reviews. “Healthy eating shouldn’t feel like a chore. We built Shareable Meals to help families and fitness enthusiasts not just stay on track with nutrition but also connect with others and discover the joy of cooking together,” said William Ashford, Founder of Shareable Meals. Key Features of Shareable Meals: - AI-Powered Meal Creation “Generate custom recipes from plain language prompts.” - Smart Meal Planning “Organize meals with an intuitive calendar and auto-generated grocery lists.” - Comprehensive Nutrition Tracking “Monitor macros, micros, and hydration with daily, weekly, and monthly insights.” - Community Engagement “Join weekly themed cooking competitions, rate and review meals, and share recipes with friends.” - Smart Pantry Management “Track ingredients, scan items with AI, and reduce food waste.” - Affordable Access “All features included for just $3.99/month, no hidden tiers.” Shareable Meals is available now on iOS. With its blend of smart technology and community engagement, the app is poised to become the go-to meal planning solution for families and health-conscious individuals alike. About Shareable Meals: Shareable Meals is a subscription-based mobile app founded by William Ashford. Designed to simplify meal planning while fostering social connections, the app empowers users to eat healthier, cook smarter, and share their love of food with others.
