Wavelength Coffee Roasters Partners with Revival Cafe and Kitchen to Bring World-Class Costa Rican Coffee to Greater Boston

Message
Boston, MA, Cambridge, MA, Lexington, MA, Shirley, MA, June 03, 2026 -- Wavelength Coffee Roasters has struck a vendor agreement with Revival Cafe and Kitchen (https://www.revivalcafeandkitchen.com/). The Shirley, MA-based specialty roaster will supply Revivalâ€™s six greater Boston locations with its Hacienda La Minita from Costa Ricaâ€”featured as part of Revivalâ€™s classic coffee campaign. Â The La Minita comes from a 1,200-acre estate in Costa Ricaâ€™s TarrazÃº valley, one of the worldâ€™s most celebrated coffee-growing regions. The estate is hands-on at every stageâ€”hand-tended, hand-picked, hand-sorted. Only fully ripened cherries make the cut. The cup reflects it: smooth and full-bodied, with notes of baking chocolate, red plum, and sweet citrus. Coffee Review gave it 94 points. Itâ€™s Rainforest Alliance Certified. Â â€œRevival Cafe has built something specialâ€”a place where people genuinely care about quality, from the food to the cup,â€• said Jim Varney, co-founder of Wavelength Coffee Roasters. â€œHacienda La Minita rewards that kind of attention. Itâ€™s one of the most meticulously grown coffees in the world, and weâ€™re proud to bring it to Revivalâ€™s customers.â€• Â The partnership is a natural fit. Revival Cafe and Kitchen launched in 2016, founded by Liza Shirazi of Crema Cafe and chef Steve â€œNookieâ€• Postal of Commonwealth Market & Restaurant. Their premise: great coffee and great food belong together. Today Revival runs six locations in Cambridge, Somerville, Watertown, Boston, and Lexington. Â â€œWeâ€™re always looking for coffees that align with our valuesâ€”sustainability, traceability, and an unwillingness to cut corners,â€• said Deanna Varney, co-founder of Wavelength Coffee Roasters. â€œHacienda La Minita checks every box. And roasting it with our air-roasting technology lets the natural complexity of that bean really shine through.â€• Â Wavelength roasts the La Minita with all-electric, air-roasting technology powered in part by on-site solar energy. The process delivers a clean, ultra-smooth cupâ€”no bitter aftertaste, no fossil fuels. Coffee is packaged in fully recyclable steel cans that keep it fresher longer. Â Hacienda La Minita from Costa Rica is available online at wavelength-coffee.com and at Revival Cafe and Kitchen locations across greater Boston. Wavelength is actively expanding its retail and foodservice partnerships. Store owners, cafÃ© operators, and restaurant managers interested in carrying Wavelength coffee are encouraged to reach out. Â About Wavelength Coffee Roasters: Wavelength Coffee Roasters is a Massachusetts-based specialty coffee company founded by Jim and Deanna Varney and headquartered in Shirley. Launched in 2025, the company follows a three-pronged sustainability model: it sources from innovative coffee producers, roasts with all-electric, solar-powered air-roasting technology, and packages in fully recyclable steel containers. The result is an ultra-smooth, clean-tasting coffee designed for both quality and environmental impact.
