Montreal, Quebec (prsafe) August 19, 2026 - Future Electronics, a global leader in electronic component distribution, is proud to announce that it has been named Global Distributor of the Year for 2025 by Isocom Components.

The award recognizes Future Electronics' exceptional sales performance, customer support, and commitment to on-time delivery throughout the year. It also reflects the strength of the strategic partnership between the two companies and their shared dedication to delivering outstanding service and innovative solutions to customers around the world.

Isocom Components, a leading manufacturer of optoelectronic devices, recognized Future Electronics for its outstanding performance across multiple regions, continued year-over-year growth, and successful expansion of Isocom's product portfolio into new markets. The award also acknowledges Future Electronics' commitment to engaging the engineering community and helping customers identify the right solutions for their applications.

"This award recognizes Future's exceptional performance across multiple regions, helping to drive significant year-on-year growth in a difficult trading environment," said Graham McBeth, Chairman of Isocom Components. "Their outstanding support in widening the product portfolio assisted in the expansion of our customer base and the commitment to engaging with the engineering community makes Future a vital part of our sales platform."

Future Electronics continues to strengthen supplier relationships by combining technical expertise with responsive customer service and operational excellence. By consistently delivering on customer expectations and investing in long-term partnerships, Future Electronics helps suppliers expand their market reach while providing customers with the confidence of working with a trusted distribution partner.

Future Electronics is honored to receive Isocom's Global Distributor of the Year Award and looks forward to building on this successful partnership for many years to come.
