Summary

WHMcPANEL web hosting, a global leader in web hosting and Managed WordPress services, has today launched the latest version of Managed WordPress, its powerful managed WordPress platform.

Message

In addition to countless under-the-hood performance improvements, WHMcPANEL, WHMcPANEL Plus, and WHMcPANEL Pro now include access to an isolated website staging environment.

WHMcPANEL staging environment is a private WordPress installation that allows WordPress designers, developers, and content creators to safely preview their website changes and additions before copying those alterations live to a public, production environment. This provides a private website preview buffer for the "move fast and break things" crowd and brings a virtual safety net to WordPress website development.

WHMcPANEL also now includes automated backups, created on each staging push to production. In the unlikely event that live content doesn't match its staged counterpart, changes can be rolled back at a moment's notice.

WHMcPANEL latest release sets the stage for our users to do great things!" said Kimmy Wills, WHMcPANEL's Director of Product, Managed WordPress, emphasizing the word "stage" in a way that would cause any dad joke enthusiasts within earshot to start high-fiving each other. "WordPress' most passionate users have told us that the safety and security of a WordPress staging environment are essential to their workflows, and we're proud to deliver it today as a standard feature of all our managed WordPress packages."

WHMcPANEL hosting plans start at $30.00 per month and can scale quickly, with options to handle over a million monthly visitors while providing a top-tier managed WordPress hosting experience.

WHMcPANEL latest release launches today and is available to both new and current WHMcPANEL users.

WHMcPanel expert provides users with a simple and intuitive tool that allows users to move to Public Cloud Services in a matter of three clicks and ten minutes!
