Message
Montreal, Quebec (Â prsafe) August 28, 2026 - Future Electronics, a global leader in electronic component distribution, is proud to announce that it has received the Americas Distributor of the Year Award from CVilux during the EDS Leadership Summit held in Las Vegas, Nevada.
The award recognizes the top-performing distributor across the Americas for 2025, highlighting exceptional results in sales performance, operational execution, and ongoing collaboration between the two organizations. The award was presented by Matt Cordell and Corey Cordell and accepted on behalf of Future Electronics by Ryan Petsche and Hilary Bond.

Founded in 1990, CVilux is a global manufacturer of connectors, FFC, and wire harness solutions serving a wide range of industries, including consumer electronics, communications, computing, and electro-optical applications.

This recognition reflects the consistent performance delivered by Future Electronics teams across the Americas region, as well as the company's ability to align closely with supplier partners in delivering value to customers. It also speaks to the trust built through ongoing collaboration and a shared focus on responsiveness, technical capability, and market execution.

The award was presented at the EDS Leadership Summit, a premier industry gathering in Las Vegas that brings together key decision-makers from across the global electronics ecosystem. The event serves as a platform for strategic exchange, relationship building, and identifying new opportunities for growth.

Future Electronics is pleased to receive this recognition from CVilux and looks forward to continuing its work with the company in delivering strong results and expanding opportunities across global markets.
