Message

Frederick, Maryland (prsafe) November 9, 2021 - Orases, a custom software and mobile application development company, was recently named by Digital.com as one of the best mobile application developers of 2021. Digital.com selected the top sixteen best mobile application developers nationwide, in which were listed in alphabetical order. Orases was exclusively recognized on the list for its excellent maintenance, support, security and compliance offerings that accompany its services.

Digital.com selected Orases as one of the best mobile application developers due to the company's ability to offer unique and innovative mobile application development services to organizations across several industries. Orases has an extensive history of developing a range of mobile applications, including lifestyle applications, social media applications, journalism applications, and mobile-friendly websites, among many others. Only companies that have demonstrated a high level of expertise and possess proven technical competencies, such as Orases, are selected for awards through Digital.com, including their awards for web hosting, website builders, eCommerce platforms and email marketing services.

This recent award adds to the list of awards Orases has previously received from Digital.com, including the Best Mobile App Developers In Washington D.C. 2021, which was the award preceding the Best Mobile App Developers Of 2021. Digital.com also mentioned Orases in their lists for Best Custom Software Developers In Washington D.C. 2021 and Best Web Development Companies In Washington D.C. 2021 â€" both of which Orases is eligible to receive their respective nationwide awards.
