Summary

Future Electronics is extending a campaign promoting a 10% discount on a vast, available discrete semiconductor selection.

Message

Montreal, Canada (prsafe) January 30, 2023 - Future Electronics, a global leading distributor of electronic components is continuing their promotion on their available and in-stock discrete semiconductor components.

For an additional two weeks, online customers can get 10% off their online purchase of select discrete products for a limited time. The company boasts an industry-leading selection of diodes, transistors and circuit protection products.

Future Electronics' stock reliability has long been a staple of the company. For this reason, customers turn to their trusted partner to find the parts they need when they need them.
